Reflective Displays: While we are all used to having the time always visible on a mechanical wrist watch, that seems hardly necessary for a smart watch, particularly with motion and gesture sensors to automatically turn on the display when the wrist is moved to a viewing position.

Smart Watch Display Technology Shoot-Out

A typical OLED is composed of a layer of organic materials situated between two electrodes, the anode and cathode, all deposited on a substrate. The organic molecules are electrically conductive as a result of delocalization of pi electrons caused by conjugation over part or all of the molecule. These materials have conductivity levels ranging from insulators to conductors, and are therefore ...

Not open for further replies. I have a 21 inch Bush CRT TV that I bought in 1998. It has given me many years of great service. About 3 years ago it started to make a hissing noise. Not just the high frequency buzz that you get from a CRT, but an actual loud hiss, louder than the tv programme I was ...
